Miroslav Bartak - Humour without words
Fredag 2. oktober kl. 17.00 på Nuuk Kunstmuseum

Miroslav Barták in a nutshell: born in 1938, sailor with a degree. Since 1960 he has been a free-lance humorist, cartoonist and illustrator. In 1969-2003, he has been responsible for 70 solo exhibitions in Europe, 8 books, illustrations for 50 books at home and abroad, 2 animated films, 52 short cartoons (blackouts) for TV, and participated in many volumes and journals of cartoons both in Europe and beyond the Big Pool. Since 1970, he has been a core contributor to a Swiss satirical magazine Nebelspalter and has also worked for Das Magazin in Zürich. He lives near Prague in a house with a large garden, together with his wife Teresa - a textile artist - and six cats. Two dogs - Barunka and Beránek - live in the garden. The front runners among those who help him keep in a good mood are Woody Allen, James Thurber and also Tom Sharpe.
