DHL

It is with pleasure that I welcome you to the 2012 season of the European Union Windows on Europe film festival.

This unique festival began in Canberra in 2005 as part of the ACT Multicultural Festival but with its increasing popularity has seen it expand in more recent years to Sydney and Brisbane.

Windows on Europe is a wonderful showcase of European cinema with its rich diversity and talent. I believe European cinema excels in the art of story-telling, it is often subtle, sensitive and sublime in its perspectives. This year the programme features cinematic gems from Finland, France, Greece, the Netherlands, Poland, Portugal, Hungary, Ireland, Spain, Slovakia, Germany, Sweden and Slovenia. Our wonderful partners, Dendy Cinemas have also generously procured two new British Australian premier movies for your enjoyment.

I would encourage you to immerse yourself into a little bit of Europe while the festival is in your city over the coming weeks and enjoy a variety of drama, thrillers, comedies, romance, fantasy and two very interesting and entertaining documentaries.

In short this festival has something for everyone.

2012 also marks the 50th Anniversary of relations between the European Union and Australia. This Festival is just one example of the many ways in which the EU and Australia interact in our ever-expanding cooperation in cultural, economic and political spheres. Please enjoy.

HE David Daly
Ambassador and Head of the European Union Delegation to Australia

Ralph Fiennes's directorial debut of William Shakespeare's tragedy Coriolanus (originally set in pre-imperial Rome) is an updated study of modern warfare reconfigured into a fictional Balkan-type contemporary Rome. Our hero, a great soldier and a man of inflexible self-belief despises the people and his extreme views ignite a mass riot. Rome is bloody. Manipulated and out-maneuvred by politicians and even his own mother Volumnia, Coriolanus is banished from Rome. He offers his life or his services to his sworn enemy Tullus Aufidius. Coriolanus and Aufidius march on Rome intending to destroy the city. Volumnia appeals to her son who he tries to reject but eventually breaks. Aufidius, feeling bitterly betrayed, brutally murders Coriolanus.

The Best Exotic Marigold Hotel follows a group of British retirees who decide to "outsource" their retirement to less expensive and seemingly exotic India. Though the new environment is less luxurious than imagined, they are forever transformed by their shared experiences, discovering that life and love can begin again when you let go of the past.

FORBIDDEN FRUIT

LENGTH: 104 MINUTES

Two 18-year-olds from apostolic Lutheran families (a sect that takes the Bible literally and prohibits contraceptives, television, alcohol, rhythmic dancing and premarital sex), wind up sampling "Forbidden Fruit" in this melodramatic coming-of-age movie. Sassy brunette Maria leaves her repressive home in Northern Ostrobothnia to experience the pleasures of the flesh in Helsinki. She figures she can always repent and be welcomed back to the fold ("All your sins forgiven in the name and blood of Christ") per Laestadian liturgy. When community elders dispatch Maria's prissy blonde best friend Raakel to save her from eternal damnation, they fail to consider Raakel's own vulnerabilities.

THE GIRL ON THE TRAIN

LENGTH: 105 MINUTES

A drama centred on a young woman who claims she was the target of an anti-Semitic attack and the subsequent media sensation it creates. Jobless, soul-searching, rollerblading Jeanne lives in a Paris suburb with her widowed mother Louise. In the hope that Jeanne will be offered a job, Louise introduces her to her old flame, now a famous lawyer and Jewish activist. Meanwhile, Jeanne meets and moves in with Franck, a thuggish athlete and aspiring wrestler. Her world is soon shattered by a violent turn of events and Jeanne and the lawyer's opposite worlds are set on a collision course, as the film becomes a complex psychological drama raising issues of race, religion and identity. Based on the play by Jean-Marie Besset this is a one-way ticket to drama!

GERMANY

Genre: Drama/Comedy

Year of Production: 2010

Director: Dietrich
Brüggemann

Staring: Robert Gwisdek,
Jacob Matschenz and Anna

Brüggemann

Awards:

In his debut feature, director Dietrich Brüggemann provides us with a light-hearted, humorous and unusual love triangle. Tart-tongued, wheelchair-bound paraplegic Ben is finishing his master's thesis and making life difficult for his assistants. However, he meets his match when he's assigned easygoing Christian, an aspiring medical student unwilling to be drawn into the power games Ben likes to play. The growing friendship between the two is strained when they both take a shine to Annika, a pretty cellist with a bad case of performance anxiety. Annika likes the playful Christian, but she's also drawn to the prickly Ben, whose verbal brilliance and appreciation for music makes her overlook his handicap. The three become close friends, putting Annika in the middle of an emotional, and somehow dangerous, ménage à trois. While conquering Annika is nothing very serious for career-focused Christian, Ben's love for Annika reminds him of his past and forces him to face his most remote fears.

LENGTH: 111 MINUTES

In the summer of 1959 Béla Kreuzer, a loaner and gambler, is arrested and placed in detention. During the investigation old friends turn their backs on him as does his girlfriend. His ruthless prosecutor would rather have him hanged, but the detective on the case, just wants the whole thing off his hands. The prosecutor seeks capital punishment, but the judge opts for a sentence of 15 years in jail, which Béla serves to the day. It is 1974 when he is released and he finds the world to be a very different place than the one he remembered.

CORRECTION

LENGTH: 87 MINUTES

A film about right-wing hooliganism, discrimination against immigrants and the brutality of thuggish soccer fans. A hand held camera follows the main character, Yorgos as he gets ready to leave prison and return to civilian life. With nowhere to go he wanders through contemporary Athens among the migrants, homeless, and other marginalised members of society. Along the way, he meets a woman and a little girl. This is a story about ordinary people which allows both the hero and the viewers an opportunity to contemplate issues of guilt and forgiveness, the preservation of human dignity and also current problems of ethnic intolerance.

HIS AND HERS

LENGTH: 80 MINUTES

Using his mother's life as inspiration, the filmmaker has created a film that explores how we share life's journey with the opposite sex. His and Hers is an investigation into the ordinary to discover the extraordinary. It finds comedy in the mundane, tragedy in the profound and provides an original insight into life. The hallways, living rooms and kitchens of the Irish Midlands are used as the canvas for the film's rich tapestry of some 70 female characters. The story unfolds sequentially from young to old with a charmingly unabashed array of Irish ladies, and there's not a man in sight...!

This gruesome tale has been recounted by historians, writers, poets, playwrights, musicians, painters, and moviemakers throughout the years and she has even made it into the Guinness Book of World Records as the world's most prolific mass murderer. A movie revolving around multiple storylines with a cast of interesting and irresistible characters who all interact at the garage run by Gagas an ageing mechanic and his gregarious apprentice Djuro. Djuro's tranquil life is disturbed by the arrival of the beautiful Bronja who is married to Lepec, the local ruffian and pimp. Year of Production: 2009
Director: Edmon Roch

José Antonio Escoriza and
Aline Griffith
Awards: Gaudi Award 2010,
Goya Award 2010

A compelling account of Juan Pujol, an extraordinary Spanish double agent during WWII who helped change the course of history. The director could easily have sat back and let this ripping yarn tell itself, instead, he creates a dazzling mixture of feature film and archival footage, interviews and music, which beautifully underscores the theme of the shifting border between truth and falsehood. In 1940, Juan Pujol offered his services to the British as a spy against the Nazis but was rejected. Instead, he set himself up as a German agent, operating out of Lisbon but pretending to the Nazis that he was based in London. The peak of his career came in 1944, when he succeeded in diverting German defence forces to Calais while the Allied landings were taking place in Normandy, thus averting considerable bloodshed.

Robin is from a remote town in Sweden, Värmland. He's a country bumpkin with a passion for leather trousers, chains and photography. Following a chance encounter with an over-the hill television personality and the closure of the local factory, Robin moves from his beloved home town to Stockholm. Having arrived in Stockholm, he is desperate to make it as a professional photographer and despite some initial setbacks and his rural background, he is commissioned to photograph an upper class wedding in Djursholm, the ritziest district in Stockholm. He promptly falls in love with the bride's sister and is willing to change everything about himself, from his outlook on life to his hairstyle, in order to win her heart. What follows is a comical clash of cultures and class as the down-at-home Robin tries to woo the girl of his dreams.
