TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

On behalf of the Consulate General of the Czech Republic in Manchester, this is to confirm that all passport applications must be submitted in person, during a previously booked appointment.

The Czech law governing travel documents stipulates the deadline of 120 days for the passport to be delivered at the representative office, counting from the date of submitting the passport application.

If the applicant does not hold any valid proof of identity and nationality, or for the registration of a child's birth, multiple appointments at the respective representation office (consulate / embassy) attended in person might be necessary. In this case, the whole process of obtaining Czech passport may cover considerably longer period.
